Natalie,

Yes. Will keep quiet on it and keep it to myself. Haven't had time to look it over closely.

Tim and David,

Hope you both are doing well.

We were advised today by the EPA that its Cost Estimator Tool is actually an internal EPA document and is not meant for public use.

Clearly I was unaware that this was the case when I forwarded it to you last week! Since it was utilized in the permitting application and referenced in the EPA's Technical Review, I had assumed it was publicly available.

In light of the above, I therefore kindly request that you not disclose or make further use of the Cost Estimator Tool. Thank you in advance for your understanding.

Best regards,
Natalie

Natalie,

Very much enjoyed talking with you about EPA Class VI financial responsibility and the Mendota project. And thanks for sending along the EPA FR cost estimator tool. We'll have to dig into it a bit to see how it compare with our model's estimate of FR. Good luck with your evaluation of CCUS projects and potential participation.

Best Regards,

Tim

Dear Tim and David,

Thanks again for taking the time to speak with me on Friday. I enjoyed our conversation and very much appreciated your insights and information.

Attached, please find the EPA's Cost Estimation Tool for the Financial Responsibility Requirements. The variables that have been entered are fictitious.

Hopefully the Mendota Project will serve as a good case study for you in the future!

Best regards,

Natalie

Hello,

I am currently conducting research and due diligence on financial responsibility regulatory requirements for CCS Projects in the United States. I came across your presentation to the Carnegie Mellon University, and was hoping you would be able to address some questions that I have after reviewing these slides.

If this is at all possible, please let me know what time / day is most convenient for you and I can rearrange my schedule to speak with you then.

Hope you have a nice day!

Best regards,
Natalie
